

Digital Signage Stakeholders

Managing digital signage starts with clear ownership of the project from day one.

For your digital signage to be successful, you need to know the key personnel needed to manage the system and their responsibilities.

If someone doesn't "own" the system and content, your digital signage becomes an orphan.

